:: About Books ::

Just at this time it may interest the American people to know there has been published a book by Arthur W. Gilbert, Mortimer P. Barrus and Daniel Dean, giving all that is known, both practical and theoretical of potato growing. Dr. Gilbert was formerly a teacher of farm crops and director of the agricultural extension work at the University of Maine. Dr. Barrus is an authority on potato diseases and is so known throughout the country. Mr. Dean is a successful commercial grower. This book will be of great help to the experienced grower as well as the beginner.

Piccadilly Jim.
In "Piccadilly Jim," a farcical piece of nonsense, Pelham Grenville Woodhouse has published a story of sheer entertainment. From the fat Pomeranian "Aida" to the crooks the author gives free rein to his fertile fancy and humor. The scene opens in the Pett house, a cab between a cathedral and a Chinese pagoda, and shifts later to London, then back again to the Pett home. The central figure is Piccadilly Jim, whose escapades on his rich stepmother's money have made him a dainty tid-bit for the yellow journals both in America and Europe. How he finally wins the red haired girl, who at first loathed him; how he exposes an adventurer and gives the henpecked Mr. Pett an opportunity to assert himself in his own home are some of the events in this story.

New books at the public library: "The First Hundred Thousand"—Ian Hay.
"Shoestrings"—Maximilian Foster.
"Greenmantle"—John Buchan.
"Big Timber"—Bertrand W. Sinclair.
"An Amiable Charlatan"—E. Phillips Oppenheim.

HOUSE COMMITTEE WRANGLES OVER WAR TAX BILL

Floor Leader Kitchin Is Trying Hard to Get Measure in Shape for Passage by Tuesday Night

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, May 19.—In an effort to whip the war tax bill into shape for final passage by Tuesday night Democratic Leader Kitchin tonight called a special meeting of the ways and means committee for tomorrow to consider amendments. Final disposition will be made then, if possible, of the troublesome second class mail rate increases and the advertising, automobile and musical instrument taxes.
Defeat of a proposal by Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin to strike out the 5 per cent light and heat tax, and adoption of an amendment lowering the express transportation tax from 10 to 6 per cent were the outstanding results of today's debate in the house. The Lenroot proposal was voted down, 58 to 116, despite the fact that the Wisconsin representative had effected a $66,000,000 increase in the income tax surtax schedules largely by the argument that he intended they should substitute the light and heat levies.

Newspaper Tax Muddled.
The proposed second class mail rate increases and the advertising tax are causing the committee much concern. With the committee virtually agreed to accept the Moon amendment on the second class mail rates and stand by the 5 per cent tax on all advertising, except newspapers and periodicals, now in the bill, Representatives Johnson of Washington, a newspaper publisher, and Representative Fitzgerald of New York injected new proposals into the situation today which resulted in the committee deferring final action until tomorrow.

Representative Johnson declared that the Moon plan to increase the mail rate on periodicals carried in the mails to any zone above the second was unjust and suggested a substitute plan basing the mail rate on the number of subscribers served by mail and the subscription price of the newspaper or periodical affected without regard to distance carried. Under this plan a publication selling at 50 cents a year would pay in addition to the regular present one cent flat rate a new rate of one-quarter of a cent per pound up to 20,000 subscribers. At 20,000 subscribers the additional rate would be raised to one-half cent per thousand.
